

English Cocker Spaniel
Female

A blank template for a dichotomous key. It features a central vertical line that splits into two main horizontal branches. Each of these branches further splits into two more horizontal branches, creating a total of eight horizontal lines for classification steps. The lines are thin and black, set against a white background.