

The image shows a decorative page, likely an endpaper or a section divider in a book. The background is a light cream color with a repeating pattern of stylized, light blue mountain peaks and trees. The pattern is dense and covers the entire page. At the top left, the word "EY" is printed in a large, bold, black serif font. To the right of "EY", the text "Mountain Feist" is printed in a smaller, black serif font, and below it, the word "Female" is printed in the same font. The page is divided into seven horizontal sections by thin black lines. Each section is a horizontal band that is wider on the left and tapers to a point on the right, creating a series of seven horizontal bands that are wider on the left and taper to a point on the right. On the right side of the page, there is a decorative border consisting of a series of small, dark blue, stylized mountain peaks and trees, similar to the pattern on the page but more detailed and darker. The border runs vertically along the right edge of the page.
