The pedigree chart is a horizontal diagram showing the lineage of a dog. It consists of three generations. The first generation (top) has a single line on the left that splits into two lines. The second generation (middle) has two lines on the left that split into four lines. The third generation (bottom) has four lines on the left that split into eight lines. Each line is a horizontal bar with a small circle at the left end, representing a dog. The lines are connected by vertical lines, forming a branching structure. The background is a light blue pattern of interlocking circles.
